

Inspect Harriman Houses Today To Halt Eviction From Townsite Houses

Officials Headed by T. P.
Towers Look Situation
Over Today

SEVEN FAMILIES MOVE

May Arrange For Others to Move into Houses With Heating Apparatus

United States Shipping Board officials are today making an inspection of the townsite village at Harriman in an effort to devise plans for obviating the threatened eviction.

W. T. Towers, manager of the housing and transportation division, motored from 140 N. Broad street, Philadelphia, the Shipping Board offices to Harriman with a staff of housing and heating experts.

There are three boilers in the central heating plant and one plan being considered in the inspection is to operate only one of these boilers, and concentrate the heat for apartments along a couple of blocks of Harriman streets. To do this, it will be necessary to close the bungalows and have tenants in them move to apartments, many of which are vacant.

There also is under consideration a suggestion to heat enough apartments to accommodate the tenants with a portable donkey engine and keep the central plant idle.

It is said a neat sum can be saved if more careful supervision is kept over the townsite coal pile. During late winter, it is asserted, many tons of coal were stolen.

Since the eviction order was issued, seven of the families in the dwellings affected have moved, so there are now 117 families to be accommodated. Of these, forty-nine are delinquent in rent, and of the other fifty-eight, it is possible to move about twenty into townsite houses that have separate heating facilities.

Since the tenants' association was formed, rumors have accused it of desiring to rid Harriman of families behind in their rent and of fostering politics. E. H. Randolph, the president, has issued this denial:

"The association has been formed for one purpose alone and that is to secure the rescinding of the order closing the heating plant and thereby dispossessing tenants of apartments and bungalows. It would be far beyond our province to attempt to force anyone to leave the townsite. What we want to do is stay here and at the same time emphasize that the association does not foster the refusal of any tenant to pay rent, especially the ones who are able to do so.

"Furthermore, the association is not a political organization and we will not be used for the furtherance of any one's political interest. Our only purpose is to get heat for our families this winter."

Thousand Women Request Gov'r to Investigate Muncy

Several thousand women have petitioned Governor Sproul for an inquiry of alleged cruel treatment to girl prisoners in the Industrial Home for Women at Muncy.

Despite the denials of officials connected with the institution, Mrs. Charles A. Plummer, of the Pennsylvania Prison Society, insists her startling allegations of inhuman conduct by Miss Frankie Wilson, superintendent of the home, can be proved.

Preliminary inquiry will be undertaken tomorrow at a meeting of the directors of the home and representatives of the State Board of Charities. The meeting will be held at Williamsport.

Mrs. Plummer, whose charges of brutality followed a personal inspection of the prison, today cites the cases of four girls, two Philadelphians, to substantiate her claims. She named Dorothy Frazer, Marion Dudwick, Florence Duke and Rose Foley as among the victims of Miss Wilson's theories of discipline.

Florence Duke was one of a gang of automobile thieves who were rounded up and convicted by Detective Le Strange. She was sentenced to eleven years and eight months.

Rose Foley, also known as Estelle Cummings, was convicted of attacking William Fisher, aged 29, Mr. Vernon street, above 11th, as he was asleep in his apartments. She alleged he had slighted her. She also slashed herself with a razor.

"My interest is solely to help these poor sister humans who have gone astray," said Mrs. Plummer. "No one has prompted me to such action."

Dirigible on Test Flight Over London

Z. R. 2 Makes Trial Trip Before Trans-Oceanic Voyage

AMERICANS ABOARD

By International News Service.
HARWICH, England, Aug. 23.—The dirigible ZR-2 passed over the Essex coast at 2.30 o'clock this afternoon sailing in the direction of London.

LONDON, Aug. 23.—The giant dirigible ZR-2 which has been purchased from England by the U. S. Navy Department and which is scheduled to leave for the United States on Thursday, began a long trial flight today with an English crew on board. She left her hangar at Howden at 7.10 o'clock.

The ZR-2 carried fifty persons. In addition to the English crew there were 21 American air sailors who will take the big dirigible home. After rising to a height of 2,000 feet the ZR-2 was caught by a strong wind and carried rapidly towards the southeast. It was intended to make a long flight out over the sea, landing at Pulham. It is possible that the flight may be extended overnight and that the dirigible will not land at Pulham until tomorrow afternoon.

At 9 o'clock the ZR-2 was sighted over Skegness, 6 miles southeast of Howden on the North Sea coast of Lincolnshire. Two hours later she was sighted near Pulham. She was making swift progress and showed no signs of making a landing so long as the weather conditions held good.

The American air sailors are moving their headquarters from Howden to Pulham.

Pigeon Stole Ring; Cop Retrieved It

By International News Service.
NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—Miss Rebecca Bernstein removed the white ribbon on which she wears her engagement ring around her neck and placed the ribbon and the ring on the window sill of the front room of her apartment at 1807 Lexington Avenue.

Ten minutes after Miss Rebecca had deposited her ribbon and ring on the window sill, the neighborhood was alarmed by the sight of Miss Rebecca, from the casement, waving her arms and shouting:

"Catch that bird!"
When Patrolman John Widner learned that the thief was a "wild pig" his lips moved but no one heard what he said. He looked aloft and there descried a pigeon's nest on the fire escape of the top floor. John toddled up the fire escape, found the ring in the nest and said something to the pigeon that concerned only the pigeon. It had something to do with the pigeon's ancestry.

Committee Will Locate Hospital Within Few Days

To Select Property For Emergency Institution Shortly

CASES ARE AWAITING

Completing Preparations to Turn Back Harriman Building

The announcement of the location of the emergency hospital which will replace the Harriman Hospital when the local sponsors abandon it will probably be made within a few days, before the end of the week at least.

The Harriman Hospital will be turned back to the U. S. Emergency Fleet according to the plans made when the decision to abandon it was arrived at.

The acquisition of a smaller property, for an emergency hospital, was at that time, decided upon. The Citizens' advisory committee and the Committee of Physicians, which have had joint government of the Harriman hospital since it ceased to be a governmental institution and became a communal endeavor, have since been looking for a property for the smaller hospital. Rumors have several times fixed upon properties as the location, but the citizens and doctors in charge have denied making these rumored selections.

No definite move in that direction had been made up to last night, when the Citizens' Advisory Committee and the doctors' committee were in joint session at the Community House, on the hospital question.

Th reports presented at this meeting were to the effect that the Harriman institution would soon be in condition to be turned back to the Emergency Fleet Corporation, its owner. An inventory has been taken and is about completed and the property has been put in the condition in which it was when taken over.

Reports were also to the effect that, though several properties had been inspected, none had been determined on as the location of the emergency hospital. A desirable private residence is being sought, but none has been determined on as yet, though several are under advisement. Of the hospital work, and acquire a meeting that the decision on a location must be reached soon, as there are a number of prospective hospital patients awaiting admission when the new hospital is ready. They are not being taken into the Harriman hospital because of the proximity of its closure. Among these prospective cases are several maternity cases.

A special committee was appointed at last night's meeting, which special committee is of the same make-up as the managing committee which guided the destinies of the Harriman Hospital. This special committee will take steps to sound out the sentiment of the community on the continuation of the hospital work, and acquire a suitable property.

The members of the committee are Drs. Wagner, chairman, Fox, Abbott, Swayne and Lehman.

Auxiliary Dance To Be Pleasing Affair

The dance which is to be given Wednesday night at Edgely, under the direction of Ladies Auxiliary, Robert W. Bracken Post, No. 382, American Legion, is expected to be the banner event of its kind this season.

Detailed plans have been mapped out, which will make the event particularly pleasing to all who attend and a number of special features have been arranged, which will add much to the evening's pleasure.

Among the numerous attractions which have been arranged as a surprise to the dancers will be a cake walk. The committee having the affair in charge have mapped out their program so that it will cater to both the old and young. Just as much enjoyment will be found for those of youthful age, as well as those of more mature years.

Tickets are on sale in the various drug stores and also at Tracy & Baker's.

Little Scholars Should Be Taken To The Baby Clinic

Parents of children who will begin their school life at the opening of the fall term of the Bristol public schools are urged to bring their children to the Baby Clinic, at the Community House, Cedar and Dorrance streets, to have the little ones examined. The examination will determine whether the youngsters are physically fitted to begin studies and will assist the parents in correcting slight defects, such as poor eyesight, poor teeth, etc.

Many children start in their schooling handicapped by physical defects which impede their studies and these defects are not discovered until later examinations in the schools. Most of them can be corrected, or prevented from becoming worse, if disclosed in time by such an examination as the Baby Clinic will give.

The Baby Clinic will be held tomorrow afternoon from 3 to 4.

Harriman Block Party on Tonight

Charitable Affair to be Staged On Pond Street in Front Of Scouts' Building

URGE ALL TO ATTEND

The block party tonight at Harriman will be held unless rain should interfere, was the announcement made today. "In case it should rain tonight the party will be held the next clear evening," said Mr. L. D. Goheen, townsite manager.

The party is to be staged on Pond street in front of the Boy Scouts headquarters. There will be plenty of amusements for all attending. Dancing will be one of the principal features but those who do not dance will be entertained just as well.

It is hoped that the public will attend and thus aid the Harriman Welfare Association in providing for the needy poor.

Believe Boy Has Mania For Joy Riding In Ambulances

TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 23.—Anthony de Lapse, aged 15, is believed to have a mania for riding in ambulances.

Wednesday the boy was taken to the Mercer Hospital, having been found in an apparently dazed condition. He said he had been struck by an automobile. An X-ray examination failed to discover any injuries.

Thursday, apparently only semi-conscious, the boy was taken to St. Francis Hospital. He said he had been drinking a combination of whiskey brandy and rum, known as "white mule." Physicians could not discover evidence of alcoholism. Last night the boy made his third trip, having again been picked up apparently dazed, though no injury or evidence of illness could be found.

Army And Navy Men To Bomb The Bombers

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—"Bombing the bombers" will be the next feat undertaken by the army and navy airmen, it was learned today.

Not satisfied with bombing battleships, army airmen want to try their hand on dropping bombs from the air on the large bombing planes engaged in bombing targets on the ground or water.

They claim that the large bombing planes would be a fair target for a smaller pursuit type of plane which could sail above the bomber, and like a hawk attacking a larger bird, drop bombs on the machine below.

There may be a difficulty in securing a favorable target, it is said, but if some stimulated condition could be achieved where the effectiveness of the plan might be gauged, army airmen want to try it.

Trenton Placed In Danger Area Of Typhoid Fever

Bristolians Warned of Epidemic's Spread to That City

CAUTION COMMUTERS

Local Health Protectors Say Disease Can Be Kept Out

While there is no real cause for alarm on this side of the Delaware River over the spread of typhoid fever throughout Burlington County, yet commuters between Bristol and the towns across the river, including Trenton, as well, should exercise caution, to prevent carrying the disease into Bristol. So warn the doctors and health authorities of Bristol.

At this season of the year, when cross-river visits and errands are so many, there is great likelihood of contagious diseases being carried from one place to another.

"Typhoid carriers" are being watched for in the affected New Jersey districts and the local health authorities are also going to be on their guard against such persons. Typhoid carriers are persons who unknowingly carry the disease.

In Burlington county, there are believed to be upward of a 100 victims of the disease. The epidemic has gained a foothold in Trenton and is causing officials of the department of health extreme concern.

Reports submitted to the health office by Trenton physicians during the past few days show that five cases of typhoid fever have developed recently, and investigations conducted by the department's inspectors have revealed that four of the five cases are directly traceable to the church picnic held at Jacobstown on July 27.

This event is believed by Dr. R. B. FitzRandolph, director of the state department of health, to have been the origin of the present epidemic, which numbers among its victims residents of Juliustown, Jacobstown, Roebling, Bordentown, Jobstown and other small municipalities in Burlington county.

An investigation of the Burlington county situation by officials of the state department of health is said to have revealed the fact that water from a cistern was used in the preparation of food, with the consequent outbreak of the present typhoid epidemic.

Four of the five Trenton victims of the disease, it has been learned by the Trenton health office, attended the Jacobstown gathering and shortly afterward were stricken with the disease. The origin of the illness in the fifth case has not as yet been ascertained.

Under the direction of Dr. Alton S. Fell, city health officer, every possible precaution against the spread of the disease has been taken by the department. Dr. Fell, however, stresses the fact that the most certain means of escaping the disease is open only to the individual—that of inoculation.

Unionist Mob Attacked Sinn Feiners On Street

By International News Service.

BELFAST, Aug. 23.—A tense situation prevails at Belfast this afternoon following two outbreaks of fighting between Unionists and Sinn Feiners. Following an early morning burst of rioting disorders again broke out when a unionist mob armed with rifles and revolvers, made an organized attack against a party of Sinn Feiners who were on their way home. The plan for the assault was carefully laid, the attackers being summoned by the blowing of whistles.

The homes of the Sinn Feiners were attacked and damaged. The Sinn Feiners rallied and the fighting spread through the streets.

Police were rushed to the scene but were unable to do anything with their riot clubs. The mobs were not dispersed until the police fired a fusillade from their service pistols.

Cross River Here To Jersey Market

Produce Buyers Use Ferry to Reach Burlington Street Market

FERRYBOAT CROWDED

Thirty-three automobiles and wagons parked in the vicinity of the landing place of the ferry boat William E. Doron, at 6.30 yesterday morning gave that section an appearance of considerable business activity.

The vehicles came from Trenton, Bristol, Frankford and intermediate points. They were enroute to Burlington, N. J., where 300 farmers with vehicles loaded with farm produce sold their produce in the open street market.

The ferry was loaded with vehicles for five successive trips and some of the produce dealers did not reach the Jersey side of the river until noon. At eight A. M. the dealers began returning with their purchases.

Despite the great influx of farmers, with their accumulated produce gathered over the week-end, prices were considered high by those acquainted with the business.

Brisk demand soon cleaned the market and the wagons of the retailers, when they returned to this side of the river, were loaded with the choicest of products of the Jersey farms back of Burlington.

Dealers doing business all the way from Trenton to Frankford come to Bristol and then cross the river and return thus.

Jake Hamon's Girl Slayer Married to Movie Director

LOS ANGELES, CAL., Aug. 23.—Clara Smith Hamon, acquitted in Ardmore, Okla., several months ago when tried for the murder of Jake L. Hamon, was married here to John W. Serious Uprising Brewing In Venezuela Is Report

BY HARRY L. ROGERS

Staff Correspondent I. N. S.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—An uprising of serious proportions is brewing in Venezuela as a result of the alleged tyranny of General Juan Vicente Gomez, who has ruled the country as "president-elect" according to a statement made today by Dr. Alejandro Rivas Vasquez, well known international lawyer, former speaker of the Venezuelan House of Deputies, Governor of the state of Zulia and one time minister of public works, who has come to the U. S. for the purpose of letting the American public know the full truth about conditions in Venezuela.

"In the thirteen years that General Gomez has figured as president of Venezuela," said Dr. Vasquez, "his career has been closely identified with usurpation, assassination and constant plundering of an outraged people. He has never held office as constitutional president, but has merely ruled as general in chief of the army, instead of assuming the executive power, taking great care that no information relative to his acts should reach the foreign public. Had he taken the oath of office as President the Constitution would have forbidden his reelection and thus caused him much embarrassment. There are now more than ten thousand political prisoners in Venezuela and not less than sixty thousand exiles or refugees living in British Trinidad, Dutch Curacao, Porto Rico, Columbia, Cuba and the U. S.

"The people are indeed desperate; they are clamoring for relief, and will resort to force to gain their liberty, notwithstanding the fact that Gomez has a standing army of 15,000 men located at strategic points. Even the military officers themselves secretly abhor the dictator, and will expose the cause of the people at the first opportunity. Hence the truth of the bloody regime of Juan Vicente Gomez is fully known in the U. S. it will cause a distinct sensation.

"Recently, when Gomez dispatched to this country a special mission headed by Esteban Gil-Borgas, Minister of Foreign Relations and a distinguished lawyer, to participate in the ceremonies incident to the unveiling of the statue of Bolivar in New York, he expected Senor Gil-Borgas to take advantage of the opportunity to laud his administration by explaining his great popularity with the people, a thing which the minister found inconvenient if not impossible under the circumstances.

Police Impound Crew When They Halt Here To Eat

FEDERAL AGENTS HERE

Request Detention of Outfit Until They Can Investigate

The six men with a truck load of 25 barrels of whiskey who were detained this morning by the police were taken back to the Federal building, Philadelphia, this afternoon, by federal officers who arrived here after receiving word from Chief Sackville. The chief accompanied them to Philadelphia.

The group was picked up this morning on Mill street where they had descended to enter a restaurant.

Chief Sackville's attention was attracted to the big Mack truck standing in front of the restaurant and the six men entering the eating place. He peered into the truck and saw the whiskey barrels.

The Chief requested the driver's license of the man operating the truck. It was produced. Then the police official asked for the carrier's permits. This caused some argument and, after one of the sextet had handed the papers to Chief Sackville, one of their number grabbed them back again and wanted to know what the trouble was.

The objecting one was placed under arrest and searched and the papers recovered. The police found that the carrier's permits are irregular. Affidavits to some of them have never been filled out and some of the names conflict.

According to the papers, the 25 barrels of whiskey are being transported from the Schenley Distilling Company, Schenley, Pa., to The Alpha Drug Company, Inc., 410-8th Avenue, New York City. The lot is listed as 839.71 gallons. It is of various proofs.

The carrier's permit is signed Barney Goldfarb. This is the one to which no affidavit has been taken.

Federal agents in Philadelphia were immediately communicated with and, when given the serial number and other preliminary information, they requested that the men be held until special agents arrived here early this afternoon.

Appearances would indicate that the truckmen have been on a long journey. Piles of clothing in the rear of the truck have been used as sleeping places for the men.

The men were reticent about their relations with the whiskey and would not talk. One, however, did express himself to one of his companions, when he unbranded him for stopping in a small town. His conversation would indicate that the question of stopping in Bristol had been discussed and was not unanimously agreed upon.

The seizure of the truck caused considerable excitement on the street and the big Mack car standing in front of police headquarters caused a crowd of men and boys to gather around. They tried to peep into the truck and get a glimpse of the 25 barrels of whiskey.

Women Raid Kentucky Stills To Protect Their Schools

By International News Service.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Aug. 23—With the future of the community school they have built up and developed menaced by the moonshining evil in the mountains, women of Martins Fork, Cumberland River, in Harlan County have organized and begun to raid illicit whiskey distilleries.

Moonshiners operated in every section. Raids by officers had little effect, so the women organized. They have already destroyed six stills and are preparing for more work of the same kind. Practically all the women raiders have been threatened with death if they do not stop their onslaughts. One woman was told if she helped destroy stills her son would not reach home again. She replied she would rather have him dead than drinking whiskey.

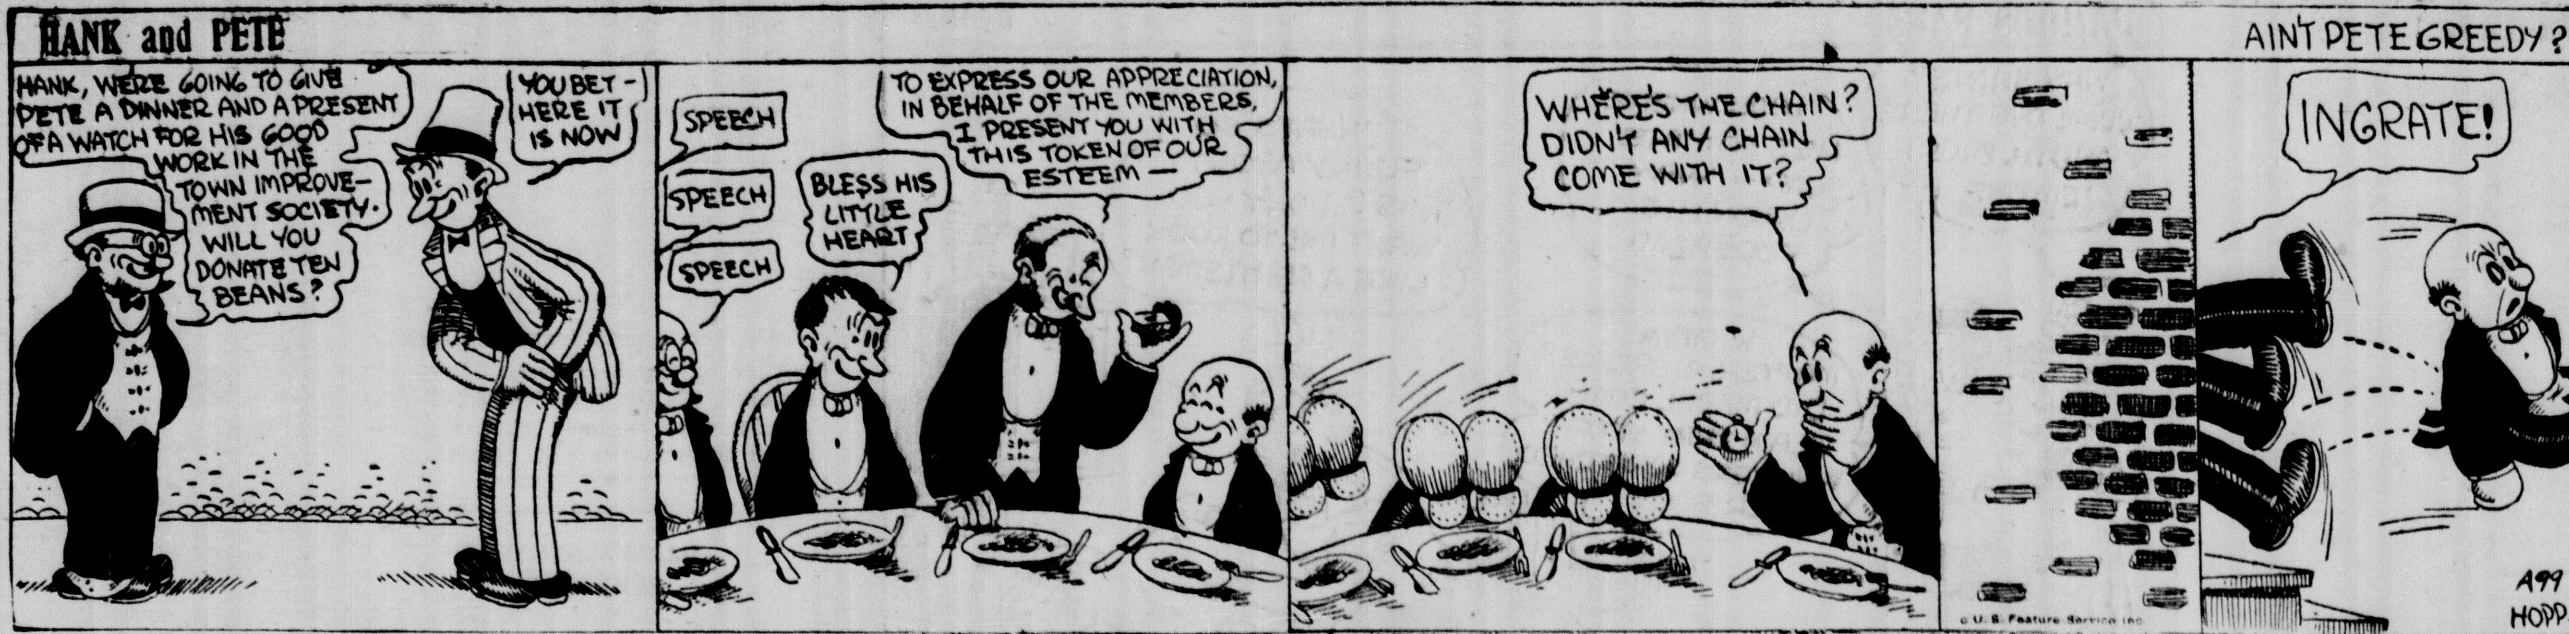

At another home a big bundle of switches was left for the woman raider. Pinned to the bundle was a note asserting that further liquor destruction would result in the son of that home being slain and "every woman in the camp will hear the crack of the rifle." The women immediately raided two more stills and the boy threatened had himself sworn in as a deputy sheriff.

The women frequently search the hills at night for the moonshine stills. Their biggest raid came after they had waded a creek for half a mile. One hundred gallons of moonshine was destroyed there. On the return, one woman carried the still and another carried the copper worm.

Cigarettes Blamed For Increase in Bearded Women

Intriguing Us to New Styles

HERE is a lovely evening gown, among the first to be presented with the stamp of the new season upon it. Its beauty is calculated to reconcile those who have questioned or opposed the edict of Paris which declares for long skirts this fall. But this gown, of American manufacture, reveals an excellent management of styles and materials—an understanding on the part of its designer that has resulted in a stately and altogether charming creation. The makers of suits and tailored dresses for street wear refuse to take the initiative in this matter of much-lengthened skirts—it is an occasion for self determination on the part of the American woman—and for the street she will, in all likelihood decree for herself the shoe-top length.

The foundation of the gown pictured is a crepe weave, high-luster silk with drapery of Gulpure lace. The lace forms an overskirt and a graceful sort of mantle, ending in panels that are finished at the edges with a piping of silk. The bottom of the overskirt is also finished in this way. The neck of the silk underdress is round, with five narrow French folds forming a band about it. The lace overskirt is higher at the back than at the front, where there is no definition of the waist line, and a girdle of wooden beads emphasizes the classic lines of the dress. A very simple and modern rosette of satin ribbon is posed at the right side. One can imagine the elegance of this model in black lace and white silk, or in dyed lace over harmonizing colors. It is an ideal dinner gown, adapted to all sorts of evening wear. Its lines are flattering to all figures.

The evening gown of black lace is the most useful of things in wardrobes that do not run to evening clothes, because it can be varied by the accessories worn with it—the sashes, girdles, fans and jewelry—may be in one or another color. Cream colored or white lace has this advantage also. Dyed laces are to be reckoned with for those who must have a variety of dinner gowns, made up with always dependable satins or crepes.

All her protective maternal instinct had been aroused by the narrow-minded women composing the "Home Purify League," who drove her and her baby out of the village. It was sixty miles across the desert to the nearest town, and she was on foot, without food and with no protection against coyotes or marauding Indians.

"The Sage Hen" they called her, that being a name the old West gave to women of doubtful character. Because she lived alone with her son and held her peace, she was an object of suspicion, but had they known all, perhaps their hearts would have been moved to pity.

"The Sage Hen" is the title of Edgar Lewis' newest production for Pathe and will be shown at the New Colonial Theatre tonight. It is an outdoor drama and forcefully visualizes the power of mother love. The action transpires in a small Arizona town during the gold rush days.

Gladys Brockwell plays the title role. Charming Lillian Rich and handsome Wallace MacDonald play the romantic leads. Others in important parts are Helen Case, Arthur Morrison, James Mason, Alfred Allen and three-year-old Richard Headrick.

Forrest Theatre

Thomas Meighan scored decisively in his latest photoplay "The City of Silent Men" at the Forrest Theatre last night. The story deals with a country boy who goes to the city and falling into the hands of crooks, unconsciously aids in the commission of a crime and although innocent, is sentenced to prison. He makes his escape and going to California, he assumes another name and becomes superintendent of a factory. Then love enters his life and on his wedding day the shadow of his past rises before him. How he regains happiness makes a delightful story. Lois Wilson is his leading woman and she heads a strong supporting cast. The picture is well worth seeing, as from every angle it is one of the best of the Meighan repertoire.

Thomas Meighan tore two more tickets out of his coast-to-coast commutation book when he made a trip to New York and back to the Lasky studio in Hollywood, to film scenes for "The City of Silent Men". This was Mr. Meighan's fourth round trip from coast to coast in 1920. The opening scenes of the new picture were filmed in the east and then the company, directed by Tom Forman, returned to Hollywood for several weeks work on western scenes. The scenes of the story are laid in New York and California, and the picture presents the exact locales.

Colored Community Outbatted Grundys

Wilhite's Clan Won From Wool Tossers by 13-6 Score

RAGGIO STOPPED THEM

BY FRANCIS G. ELLIS
The Colored Community Club had on their batting togs last night and drove Hagerman, pitching for the Grundy team, out of the box in four innings. Wilhite's clan winning 13-6. Raggio, who replaced Hagerman, prevented further scoring.

Valentine's home run in the fourth inning and Field's fielding were the features.

COURIER'S SPORT MIRROR

Fifty per cent of the star mittmen scheduled to appear in the brilliant show arranged by Promoters Herman Taylor and Bobby Gunnis at the Phillies Ball Park tomorrow night are Philadelphians. They are Lew Tendler, Joe Tiplitz, Harry Kid Brown and Danny Kramer.

Tendler and Brown are Quaker City born while Tiplitz, who hails from Brooklyn, and Kramer, a Bostonian, are Philadelphia citizens by adoption.

Their opponents from other districts all are in Philadelphia today. Sailor Friedman, the Chicago lightweight and opponent for Tendler has been in Philly for more than a week, having trained for his match at Jack O'Brien's gym. Tendler also worked out at the same place but Lew did not arrive at the gym until an hour after Friedman had finished his work.

Johnny Dundee and Charley Ledoux, the Frenchman, came over from New York and their respective opponents will be Tiplitz and Kramer. George Chaney, the knockout person, pulled in from Baltimore for his tilt with Brown.

It has been rumored that Benny Leonard would be at the ringside, for two perfectly good reasons. One to see contenders for his title in action.—Tendler, Friedman and Dundee being the most dangerous of the champion's foes. And, secondly, but most important,—Leonard will be anxious to prove that there is no bunk about the injury to his left thumb. It is said, Leonard will be armed with x-ray pictures of his left hand, statements and other evidence to prove veracity of his injury.

Tickets for tomorrow night's program have been going fast—like the proverbial hot-cakes, as it were, still the promoters have out-of-town customers in mind, and several blocks of reserved seats have been put aside to be placed on sale late tomorrow afternoon.

Hundreds of fans are coming over from New York, a thousand or more will be up from Atlantic City and droves will be down from up-the-state.

The ring is to be pitched between the pitcher's box and second base, and it will be raised high enough so that the platform will be in direct view of everyone in the park.

Change of Schedule of the Trenton, Bristol and Philadelphia Street Railway Company

Owing to the work being done by the State Highway Commission on Bridge Street, Morrisville, and the difficulty we have in operating our cars at this point; during the time this work is in progress we will discontinue running our cars into Trenton. Commencing with Thursday morning, August 11th our cars will end at the terminus of our line at Morrisville. Arrangements have been made with the Pennsylvania-New Jersey Railway Company to make close connections with our cars, so that our passengers will experience as little inconvenience as possible.

This change also necessitates a change in the running time of our cars. The cars will arrive in Morrisville twenty-five minutes after each hour and will leave thirty-five minutes after the hour. Through cars for Morrisville will leave Torresdale on the hour, and will pass Bath Street, Bristol at thirty-five minutes after the hour.

Half hourly service will be maintained from Torresdale to Tullytown from 6:30 A. M. to 10 A. M., the service will then be hourly until 2 P. M., when the half hour service will again be maintained from 2 P. M. until 10 P. M.

New time tables are ready for distribution.

Firestone

Again Reduces Price

Extra Size 30x3½ $16.65

Now $ 13.95

Firestone first made the low price of $13.95 on the Standard Non-Skid, May 2. Unusual purchasing power through big volume of business, and the great efficiency of its $7,000,000 Plant No. 2, manufacturing exclusively 30x3½ size, made this possible. Now, the production of the Extra-Size 30x3½ tire has been transferred to Plant No. 2. This permits the price reduction on this tire from $16.65 to $13.95. No such value has ever before been offered tire users. If your dealer hasn't the Extra-Size in stock ask for our Standard Non-Skid type at the same price. You will still be getting an unusual tire value.

EDGAR LEWIS PRESENTS

"THE SAGE HEN"

Gladys Brockwell, Lillian Rich and Wallace MacDonald.

From the story by Harry Solter

Mary Glynnne as Maud Brian

Coming Tomorrow-- Wednesday

Stoll Film Corporation of America Presents

"The Hundredth Chance"

By Ethel M. Dell

From the novel of the same name.

It's a story of a battle between a two-fisted trainer and his silky, smooth-mannered employer for the hand and heart of a woman who was not over-quick in making a decision—she may have been a bit slow, but she certainly was sure.

Dennis Neilson Terry (son of Ellen Terry) is the employer, Mary Glynnne is the girl, and Sidney Seaward is the trainer.
